

By the Judgement of 28 October 2021 No. 46-II the Constitutional Court assessed constitutionality of Article 110 part 1 of the Commercial Procedure Code of the Russian Federation.

This norm became subject to examination insofar as it served as basis to decide on the possibility to order the rights' owner to pay court expenses borne by the violator of exclusive rights to intellectual property if a commercial court establishes violation of intellectual (exclusive) rights and grants the compensation claim of rights' owner who has asked for a minimum compensation amount foreseen by law with regard to relevant violation; but decides to decrease the compensation amount.

The challenged norm was recognised as not contradicting the Constitution of the Russian Federation since under its constitutional legal meaning within the current regulatory framework it does not foresee the said order in described circumstances.
