

By the Judgement of 2 April 2024 No. 14-II, the Constitutional Court assessed constitutionality of Article 1.7 (part 2), Article 4.4 (part 5), and Article 15.25 (part 1) of the Code of the Administrative Offences of the Russian Federation.

These legal provisions have been considered to the extent that, on the basis of them, it may be decided to apply retroactively a law that improves the situation of a person who has committed an administrative offence, in the case where a legal entity has committed several administrative offences (provided for in Article 15.25) and they were detected within the framework of a single control (supervisory) measure and penalties were imposed for them before the entry into force of Article 4.4 (part 5) of the Code, and at the same time some of the decisions to impose an administrative fine had not been executed by that date.

The contested legislative provisions were found not to be inconsistent with the Constitution of the Russian Federation insofar as they imply that decisions on the imposition of an administrative fine on a legal entity for administrative offences in the above-mentioned case should be considered (taken into account) as one decision on the imposition of an administrative fine in the amount determined by the sum of the fines imposed by such decisions, by decision of the competent law enforcement bodies. At the same time, it is not necessary to annul previous decisions on the imposition of administrative sanctions and to issue a decision covering all the offences committed.